Location

The premises are located within a pleasant and busy suburban shopping parade to the north of Gosforth. The immediate area comprises good quality private housing and the parade includes a Post Office, Delicatessen, Coffee Shop, Convenience Store, Indian Takeaway, Hair Salon, Physio, Pharmacy, Vets and an Estate Agents all served by designated parking to the front. Access is simple from the Great North Road.

Business

This is a long established and reputable butcher which operated as George Payne for 30 years before being acquired by the current owner, who managed the shop around 6 years ago until Mr Payne retired.

The premises are laid out to assist both customer service and efficiency and provide a waiting and service space at the front with a visual prep area behind the counter and to the rear. The fit out is recent and modern to include a large service counter with high spec touch screen scales which are linked to the tills. The scales incorporate customer facing LED displays which advertise a range of stocked products.

The business has a loyal and regular customer base and the shop is well known for its home-made sausages, burgers, ready-made meals and dry aged beef steaks.

To the rear of the shop there is a walk-in chiller and another external chiller with a separate smoker room which produces smoked bacon and gammons. The average spend is high and the shop also offers a range of quality condiments, hand-made sauces and local organic eggs.

Trading hours are shorter by choice with plenty of scope to extend. A local delivery service has proved very popular and there is also a busy phone and collect service too. Increased social media presence and online ordering would benefit the business.
